

SURGERY

Written by

Liz Zhang

INT. HOSPITAL - DAY

Music is playing in the operating room. A group of doctors and nurses are huddled around the operating table. The head surgeon gestures for a scalpel, which a nurse hands her. A monitor starts beeping. A doctor quickly adjusted a machine that's pumping some kind of liquid.

NURSE

Hurry Doctor, we're running out of time!

The doctor's hands move faster, she wipes the sweat off her brow. An alarm goes off. Everyone looks at the clock and breaths a sigh of relief. It says 12:00. They all step back from the table. The scalpel is sitting next to a block of cheese and red salsa is dripping out of the tube that leads to the machine that's pumping liquid. On the operating table is a perfectly wrapped burrito.

BLACKOUT