

UNWELCOME VISITOR

Written by

Liz Zhang

EXT. GAS STATION - DAY

TED and JOHN are sitting in rocking chairs in front of the store part of a country gas station, waiting for the first customer of the day to roll through.

TED
You see the new fella?

JOHN
The big guy with gray hair?

Ted nods

JOHN (CONT'D)
Yeah, I seent him.

TED
Don' trust these fellas when they come through town like this. I see the way he rubs his hands together.
He's up to sumthin'.

JOHN
It's his eyes I don' like, his beady little eyes.

A racoon slowly meanders past Ted and John. They both closely follow him with their eyes.

TED
Up to no good, I tells ya.

BLACKOUT